What is the Uniformed Code of Military Justice?

The Uniformed Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) is the law we use in all of our games under the United States Armed Forces. This law provides structure and balance. It should be expected that this will be enforced at all times in any USAF games.

How to interpret the UCMJ?

When interpreting the Uniformed Code of Military Justice, you must always have common sense. If you don't have common sense, then you aren't going to get far in this group. You shouldn't follow it rigorously, but you should still stay in the line and not cause trouble. For instance, you can be a bit immature like cracking jokes and all that. But don't go around screaming "XD poop poop head". This paragraph is mainly for MP. You may also not use this paragraph to get out of a punishment.

Questions about the UCMJ?

Go to a Military Police with a question about the UCMJ. If they don't know then go to an officer. If they can't answer it then we need to change something in UCMJ.

What is a State Of Emergency (SOE)?

A State Of Emergency or SOE for short is basically to combat situations that can cause harm to the group. Something that could trigger a SOE is a riot or a mass exploit attack. When a SOE is triggered your rights are revoked (Check rights for more information) and admin abuse laws are relaxed (To combat the situation) but misusing the commands can get you a report. These will not happen often and hopefully never at all.

Only Senior Command+ may authorize a State of Emergency.

What is Honored Personnel?

Honored Personnel is an honorary title given to USAF members who have dedicated a significant amount of time and service that has aided to get the CA where it is today. Those with the role will be given special recognition and have access to the Officer Area regardless of rank. People who have been excommunicated may never receive this role unless decided upon by the President of the United States. If reported, you will lose your Honored Personnel status.

Note: If you lose your Honored Personnel status because of a report, you must wait until you are back at Class A then reapply to regain the status.

What happens if I'm Excommunicated?

Once your excommunicated you won't be allowed into any USAF related Discords and you'll be forced to appeal on USAFrbx.com. If your appeal is denied, you'll have to wait three months before appealing again. Appealing again before the three-month period is up will just result in the time being reset.

Being excommunicated a second time makes it a permanent and unappealable ban from the group.

General information:

A "merc" (mercenary) is someone from a different regiment or someone who is a non-regimental joining a regiment they are not apart of to fight within a PR. This does not include mixed IPR's. Both PRing regiments need to confirm the mercenary otherwise they cannot take part.

For alts permission needs to be from the division/unit you're joining in and from the Joint Chief of Staff of your respective branch you're joining with the alt. There is a rank limitation and its been put as Sergeant.
